Structural Safety Audit of Lifeline Buildings
Implementation guidelines

Scheme for Structural Safety Audit of Lifeline Buildings

“Earthquakes don’t kill; unsafe buildings do”

IMPLEMENTATION GUIDELINES

I. CONTEXT :

The State of Himachal Pradesh lies in the Himalayan Region. There has been an increase in population and infrastructures within State, in the last few decades. The fragile ecology and geology of the State coupled with large variations in Physio-Climatic conditions renders it vulnerable to vagaries of nature in one way or the other. Rapid urbanization and unplanned development has led to the situation that lakhs of people within the State are at risk from earthquake.

The Indian Standard code of practice for earthquake resistant design of structures, IS 1893 (2002), has identified 7 Districts of the region in Zone of most severe (Zone V) seismic hazard with the design peak ground acceleration as 0.36g. Remaining 5 Districts lie in zone of high seismic hazard (Zone IV) with design PGA as 0.24g. This region has felt large earthquakes in the past and the Seismotectonic maps prepared by State has shown some regions that are more active and entire State is at risk of being affected by a severe seismic event.

As per Hazard Risk and Vulnerability Analysis Atlas developed by the M/s TARU for the State, most of the buildings in the State can be divided into 5 types of construction. These are RC frame, Brick Masonry, Stone Masonry, Mud Houses and Hybrid Construction. Construction of RC frame structures has gained momentum in recent years. The masons were however not trained in the use of the new building material & construction methods. This is enough to highlight structural vulnerability of the built environment, particularly to seismic tremors to which the State is highly Vulnerable.

Hasty population growth and lack of awareness of earthquake risk and scanty building performance has been singled out as the most important constituent source of the ever-increasing earthquake risk within the State. Therefore, improving seismic performance of new constructions and improving the same for the existing buildings should become one of the main thrusts towards earthquake safety in Himachal Pradesh. Promoting safer building construction is an objective necessity for Himachal where urban population is increasing faster.

Rapid growth of urban population demands a very high rate of building production, which, in the absence of proper building permit process, and a general lack of the knowledge and skills for earthquake resistant construction, end up in shanty construction that are extremely vulnerable to earthquake. Most residential buildings, even in urban areas of Himachal Pradesh, do not receive any rational design for strength.

Even though most municipalities do have a system of building permits, there is no provision in the process to check strength criteria. The building permit process takes into account only the compliance related to planning such as the ground coverage, floor-area ratio (FAR), and the stipulations of the building by-laws (height, provision of toilet, sewer and solid waste disposal etc.). There is poor institutional and technical capacity within the local authorities for implementing strength-related provisions if they were to be introduced into the building permit process.

II. PURPOSE OF STRUCTURAL SAFETY AUDIT :

The norm according to the model bye-law no. 77 for co-operative housing societies, it is mandatory that if the age of a building is 15 to 30 years, a structural audit must be carried out once in five years and for buildings older than 30 years it should be carried out once in three years. One may, however, go for it even earlier if one suspects the condition of the building to be bad.

The main purpose of the structural safety audit is an overall performance check-up of a building like a doctor examines a patient. It ensures that the building and its premises are safe and have no risk. It analysis and suggests appropriate repairs and retrofitting measures required for the buildings to perform better in its service life. Structural Audit is done by an experienced and licensed consultant.

- To save human life and building.
- To understand the condition of building.
- To find critical areas to repair immediately.
- To comply with statutory requirements.
- To enhance life cycle of building suggesting preventive and corrective measures like repair and retrofitting.
- To proactively assist the residents and the society to understand the seriousness of the problems and the urgency required to attend the same.

III. PROMINENCE OF STRUCTURAL SAFETY AUDIT :

Structural Audit enables the organizations to address the issues by identifying the following:—

- (i) To recognize the types of structural defects.
- (ii) To identify any signs of material deterioration.
- (iii) To identify any signs of structural distress and deformation.
- (iv) To identify any alteration and addition in the structure, misuse of structure which may result in overloading.
- (v) Structural Audit is an important tool for knowing the real status of the old buildings.
- (vi) The Audit highlights & investigate all the risk areas, critical areas and whether the building needs
  - Immediate attention. It should also cover the structural analysis of the existing frame and
  - Pinpoints the weak structural areas for static, floods and earthquake loads.

IV. SAFE LIFELINE BUILDINGS :

W.J Hall (1991) states, “Within a broad definition lifeline can be defined as those utilities, facilities, structures and equipment that support & enables people to survive or to continue doing something, often by providing an essential connection at the time of disaster.” Whereas, D. C. Hopkins (1991) believes that physically it should be any engineered system which we rely on and which is of vital importance in sustaining the physical and economic life of a community.

Kircher et al, (1997) as it is always said “Earthquake don’t kill people, buildings do”. Buildings have two important components: structural and non-structural. Structural components are the building load bearing elements like foundations, columns, beams and walls etc. Non-structural components include architectural and design features like doors, windows, false ceiling etc. and services include features like electrical and plumbing fixtures. Buildings fail in the event of earthquake when major damage occurs to structural systems.

Case Studies of Failure of Lifeline Buildings :

(a) Bhuj District Hospital Building.—The Bhuj earthquake of 26 January, 2001 was one of the most severe disasters in recent times. The earthquake, measuring 6.9 on the Richter scale, destroyed over 12 lakh houses across Gujarat, but the worst hit was Bhuj, 60 km from the epicenter at Bhachau. Some of its landmark buildings, like the nine-storey Sahajanand Towers came crashing down, district hospital, collector office etc. and over 38,000 homes were collapsed in the city, killing 2,370 people. The only civil hospital in Bhuj was damaged, killing more than 200 persons including doctors, nurses, patients, visitors and staff. On the other hand, the District Collector office which is the most important official for handling emergencies and development activities of the district collapsed. The situation was similar for many other district-level offices and those at sub-divisions and talukas.

(b) Secretariat Building Gangtok.—The M 6.9 earthquake hit Sikkim on 18th September, 2011 with its epicenter located near India-Nepal border, about 68 km NW of Gangtok and at a focal depth of 19.7 km as reported by USGS. Sikkim earthquake caused severe damage to build environment across the State of Sikkim and partly in Darjeeling district of neighbouring State of West Bengal.

It also triggered numerous landslides that caused damage to the buildings in several parts of the State. Secretariat building in Gangtok is one of the most important buildings of Sikkim, which houses the offices of chief functionaries of state government, including the Chief Minister. The building was damaged earlier during the earthquake of February 2006 and similar damage is repeated during this earthquake, also. The building has undergone major damage particularly to the columns at the interface of the two blocks, apparently due to pounding. The infills have been badly damaged particularly at the corners of the building. In Sikkim, it is a practice to provide the infills outside the columns. This makes the corners very vulnerable and the infills fail in wedge type corner failure combined with out-of-plane action.

Therefore, preparedness and mitigation measures should include retrofitting of life-line buildings for not only saving lives of the vulnerable people, but also to ensure prompt and efficient response to disasters. Ideally, buildings should be designed with respect to earthquake such that they survive in moderate earthquakes with non-structural damages and resist collapse with structural damages in strong and major earthquakes and ensure that no life is lost because of the collapse of buildings and also remain functional so that the response in post disaster situation is uninterrupted.

In order to ensure that such instances don't happen within the State of Himachal Pradesh, the State Executive Committee (SEC) took decision to ensure the safety measures.

V. PRIORITIZATION OF STRUCTURES :

The initial focus for structural safety audit and retrofitting will be on government and public buildings. In the first phase the lifeline buildings which will be shortlisted for Structural Safety Audit would be as follows :—

A. State Headquarter :

- (i) H. P. Secretariat
- (ii) The Governance House
- (iii) H. P. Vidhan Sabha
- (iv) H. P. High Court
- (v) All India Radio
- (vi) D. D. Shimla
- (vii) Police Headquarter
- (viii) State Treasury

B. District Headquarters :

- (i) The Collectorate
- (ii) The Superintendent of Police Office

- (vii) Important Water Storage Tanks
- (viii) Critical Bridges
- (ix) District Treasury
- (x) Primary Health Centres

Ten structures of all from all the District Headquarters and five-ten important buildings at State Headquarters may be shortlisted.

The Structural Safety Audit is a purely technical achievement where technically sound personal/Experienced Civil Engineer will conduct the audit with a few hand held equipment's in following steps :

Step I.—Keen observations shall be done for RVS only by technically sound personal/Experienced Civil Engineer. During Rapid Visual Screening (RVS) period, photographs also have to be taken for further analysis & identification of the building. The visible defects/damages, disorder and any infirmity have to be keenly observed and list out. Laptop/Tablet will be used as record media for collected data and photographs.

Step II.—The Non-Destructive Testing (NDT) equipment Schmidt Hammer is to be applied if required to check the quality of concrete used in the building.

Step III.—Built-up area and height of the building shall be measured and recorded.

Step IV.—Design of structure (if available) and/or building permission will be verified with the compliance of actual structure of the building by the technically sound person.

Step V.—For under construction building, quality of materials used has to be checked and inform to builder to check the progress work to get the earthquake resistance standard/safety so that, if any anomaly found, retrofitting can be done immediately. Subsequently, the records submitted to the concern authority i.e. 1st party.

Step VI.—The technical report (Phase-1) will be prepared within 7 (seven) days from the date of completion of field works and submitted the same to the 1st party.

Recommendation based on above study for each building :

- (a) Recommendation will mainly focus on the structural safety assessment of each building examined and suggest corrective/remedial measures, if any.
- (b) It will also recommend if further NDT is recommended alongwith reasons for which the NDT is recommended and such test is required to be conducted.
- (c) If, however as per the Phase-I study, no further structural assessment and audit is recommended for any building, the same also required to be pointed out by concerned experts.

(2) PHASE-II :

After recommendation of Structural Safety Audit and structural inspection in Phase-I Non-Destructive Testing (NDT) service may have to be done for checking overall quality & safety of buildings with the help of NDT equipment's. Accordingly, the data shall be sorting & analyze for proper identification of weakest points and safety level of the building that Retrofitting can be done as the remedial measures taken by the owner of the building. However, the consultancy of retrofitting is not covered within the scope of this proposal. In case of under constructed building, the Structural Safety audit shall be in phased manner. The NDT equipment's are also applicable in this type of audit.

- (i) The function and features of usable NDT equipment's in both new and existing building are summarized as follows :

- (a) Pile Integrity Test.—Pile Integrity Testing (PIT) is a Non-Destructive Testing equipment shall be used for Technical Audit of foundation of the building especially for pile foundation whereas the parameters like Length of the Pile, Quality of pile, any Crack, break, voids inside the pile etc. can be determined.

- (b) Rebar Detection.—The compact, lightweight Profometer 5+rebar detection equipment shall be used to detect the position of Rebar (Reinforcement), Concrete Coverage, Span and diameter of rebar.
- (c) Corrosion Analyzing.—The Canin+, the corrosion analyzing instrument shall be used for assessment of conductivity of concrete and presence of corrosion of steel inside concrete.
- (d) Ultrasonic Crack detector.—Tico-is an ultrasonic instrument shall be used to detect the uniformity of concrete, cavities, cracks and defects, the modulus of elasticity and compressive strength.
- (e) Compressive Strength of Concrete (Quality Test).—The Schmidt Hammer (Digi-Schmidt) is one of the modern & sophisticated Non-Destructive Testing equipment shall be used to determine the compressive strength of any type of concrete. It is also the prime equipment for evaluating the quality of concrete.

(ii) Basic Technical Requirement and Specification :

- (a) Nature of Structural Safety Audit.—Nature of audit will be the Structural safety audit of all Ground+2, G+3 R.C.C. buildings.
- (b) To use up-to-date technical machinery and know how without damaging existing buildings.
- (c) The firms/institutions should have technical knowledge, adequate qualified technical manpower and equipment for conducting such safety audit.

The consultant may also suggest and engage any other method as may be suitable to arrive at a definite conclusion with prior approval.

Recommendation based on the NDT and testing report should consist of the report of overall quality of the building indicating the weakest points for safety and prospective remedial or retrofitting measures for sound condition. All report and documents shall be in English with 3 (three) hardcopies and 1 (one) soft copy.

(iii) Test data Collection and record :

Before testing the work piece (RCC Building), the test point shall be prepared by rubbing and cleaning that actual data can be obtained by applying the NDT equipment's. The test data shall be properly collected by equipment automatically and subsequently manually recorded. Further, the data shall be sorted and categorized for preparation of Technical audit report.

(iv) Technical Audit Report:

A Structural Inspection report (Phase-II) shall be prepared performing the Non-Destructive Testing of the building. This report consists of categorized Test data, Photographs of the building alongwith the expert view (suggestion) and shall be submitted to DDMA & HPSDMA respectively.

VIII. ENGAGEMENT OF KNOWLEDGE INSTITUTION :

For Continuous improvements in structural and non-structural measures for earthquake risk reduction will improve only if building can be made safe against earthquake by retrofitting and for this SDMA will engage knowledge Institution i.e. National Institute of Technology (NIT), Hamirpur and Indian Institute of Technology (IIT), Mandi. They will play role of Knowledge Partner to Conduct Training for engineers from PWD, IPH, RD and ULBs, Conducting RVS, Detailed Structural Audit, recommendations for retrofitting of buildings and preparation of estimates for retrofitting and will providing Technical assistance and supervision for retrofitting within the State.

IX. FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS :

The expenses for training of engineers and consultancy charges of National Institute of Technology (NIT), Hamirpur and Indian Institute of Technology (IIT), Mandi will be borne by the Disaster Management Cell. Whereas, the Cost of Retrofitting will be borne by the concerned department.

X. PROPOSED BUDGET :

The proposed estimated budget for the Structural Safety Audit of Lifeline Buildings will be Rs. 50 lakhs (Training and Consultancy Charges) to be met out of 14th Finance Commission Grand-in-Aid or other funds available with DMC. Funds may also be obtained from other source such as Govt. of India Scheme(s), Corporate Social Responsibility, other donor agencies, etc.

XI. MONITORING AND EVALUATION :

Monitoring and Evaluation of the scheme will be done by the Disaster Management Cell, Department of Revenue.

XII. AMELIORATION-STRUCTURAL SAFETY :

Based on the audit findings and recommendations different measures of repairs and strengthening are carried out. Strengthening of structural members can be achieved by replacing poor quality or defective material with better quality material, by attaching additional load-bearing material, such as high quality concrete, additional steel, thin steel plates, various types of fiber reinforced polymer sheets, and so on, and by the redistribution of the load such as by adding a steel supporting system.

The structural diagnosis is vast, important and highly responsible work which is connected with lives of human beings. It is mandatory and advisable to carry out the periodical structural audit of the buildings by professional experts and act immediately through recommendations provided in audit report.

The purpose of strengthening is to increase the load-carrying capacity or stability of a structure with respect to its previous condition. The success of repairs and restoration is always based on thorough knowledge, correct diagnosis and in-depth studies of problems in building, proper repair practices and finally socio-economic considerations. The effective implementation of auditing enhances the life span of structure, prevents deterioration of building leading to sustainability.
